FCOJ War Imminent?

In a related story REUTERS reports the price of FCOJ (Frozen Concentrated Orange Juice) plummeting after a recent attack on various US plantations. Fears of terrorist attacks on western US plantations' Orange County have caused stir among the fizzy drinks industry honchos. Mervin Belowsky, head of foreign invasions at Coca Cola, is unafraid to voice his opinion: "this is an attack on home soil, those water-drinking kurds are out to destroy our way of life. Consider this Oil, the sequel".
